Objective

The goal of this course is to give the students knowledge of the legislation regulating the acquisition and use of real estate. The students will gain an understanding of the legislation on propriety rights, the legal questions concerning prescriptive right, easements and real estate boundaries and how different creditors may secure their claims in real estate.

The students will also gain an understanding of registration laws regarding real estate documents.

Furthermore, the course covers family, inheritance and probate law as well as allodial law with regards to the sale of real estate.

Within the subject area of tax law, students will become thoroughly acquainted with the laws on property and income tax and gain an understanding of the laws on property gains tax and on tax allowances for losses incurred in connection with transfer of real estate. Students will also gain knowledge of the rules governing inheritance tax. Students are expected to become familiar with the laws on legal enforcement, debt settlement procedures and bankruptcy. Finally, students will gain thorough knowledge of contract documents and procedures.
