Objective

The objective of this course is to give students an understanding of the laws that affect practitioners of real estate brokerage.

The course covers contract law and aims to give the students an understanding of the regulations that govern the legal relations between seller and buyer in broker mediated real estate contracts. This includes the laws that apply to breach of contract and relevant regulations pertaining to monetary claims.

The students will become familiar with specific topics within general property law and acquire a knowledge of relevant regulations in the field of insurance.

Prerequisites

Foundation Programme in Business Administration or equivalent.
