Mål

This course provides the students with a relevant theoretical and practical background for understanding and influencing organizational processes of change. Organizational theory, work psychology and Bolman & Deal's four different managerial ways (frames) to view an organization are central theoretical elements in this course.

The students are introduced to a number of diagnosis techniques along with the change process itself based on an Action Research Model and a number of different, formal intervention techniques. Based on the theory mentioned above and a number of practical cases, the students are expected to develop a critical and independent view of the theory and practice related to organizational change, and the way in which changes are brought about.

Forkunnskaper

It is recommended that the students should have completed a basic course in Organizational Theory.
