

APPLIES TO ACADEMIC YEAR 2007/2008

GRA 5914 Global Politics: International Political Economy and World Trade

Program

Master of Science in Political Economy, Specialization Course

Responsible for the course

Nick Sitter

Department

Public Governance

Term

According to study plan

ECTS Credits

6

Language of instruction

English

This is an introductory international politics course and requires no previous knowledge. It has been designed for the MSc in Political Economy program. The focus is on global politics – the great questions in international relations, security, democracy, economic growth and free trade – that all come together in the globalisation debates, and on the EU's external relations and role in global politics. The central themes are globalisation, world trade and the EU's international role.

Objective

The course addresses international developments since the end of the Cold War – more specifically trends and patterns related to democratisation, economic growth and trade as well as stability or change in international relations. It covers theories of international relations, and address the great questions of international political economy, including the 'end of history' thesis and democratisation, the relationship between democracy and economic growth, developments in world trade and efforts to build sustainable international institution to regulate this, and questions of international security and intervention in world politics. The course specifically addresses the EU's external relations, including some focus on Norway's relationship with the EU and international free trade regimes. It is designed to provide students with tools and frameworks for analysing current debates and controversies related to the widening of the EU and the EU's relationship with Norway and the rest of the world through organisations such as the WTO, as well as the current debates on the design and operation of international organisations such as the institutions that have been established to liberalise (GATT) and manage (WTO) world trade or issues such as climate change (Kyoto). Institutional design of other international organisations related to democracy, security and human rights are also addressed.

Prerequisites

Bachelor's degree qualifying for admission to the MSc Program

Compulsory literature

Books:

Baylis, John and Steve Smith, eds. 2005. The Globalization of world politics : an introduction to international relations. 3rd ed. Oxford: Oxford University Press

Dicken, Peter. 2007. Global shift : mapping the changing contours of the world economy. 5th ed. London : Sage

Hill, Christopher & Michael Smith, eds. 2005. International relations and the European Union. Oxford : Oxford University Press

Collection of articles:

Compendium of Journal Articles, including articles/chapters.

Recommended literature

Books:

- Allen D. and G. Edwards. 2006. External economic relations of the European Union. London: Macmillan Palgrave
- Balaam, David N. and Michael Veseth. 2005. Introduction to international political economy. 3rd ed. Upper Saddle River: Pearson Prentice Hall
- Bretherton, Charlotte and John Vogler. 2006. The European Union as a global actor. 2nd ed. London: Routledge
- Dillon, Sara. 2002. International trade and economic law and the European Union. Oxford: Hart
- Economides, Spyros and Peter Wilson. 2001. The economic factor in international relations : a brief introduction. London: I. B. Tauris
- El-Agraa, Ali M. 2004. The European Union : economics and policies. 7th ed. Harlow : Prentice Hall/Financial Times
- Emerson, Michael, Marius Vahl and Stephen Woolcock. 2002. Navigating by the stars : Norway, the European Economic Area and the European Union. Brussels: Centre for European Policy Studies
- Gilpin, Robert. 2000. Global political economy : understanding the international economic order. Princeton: Princeton University Press
- Landes, David S. 1999. The wealth and poverty of nations : why some are so rich and some so poor. London: Little, Brown and Company
- Stubbs, Richard and Geoffrey R. D. Undershill, eds. 2006. Political economy and the changing global order. 3rd ed. Oxford : Oxford University Press
- Young, John W. and John Kent. 2004. International relations since 1945 : a global history. Oxford: Oxford University Press

Other:

Individual journal articles and book chapters available in the library and/or electronically will be recommended as further reading.

Course outline

1. Stability and change in international relations since the end of the Cold War; globalisation and new patterns of international politics.
2. Democratisation and economic growth; the debates on relationships between democracy and prosperity; globalisation/anti-globalisation.
3. International trade from GATT to WTO, free trade and development; international regimes and regulation (e.g. climate change).
4. The EU's relationship with other international organisations and its role in global politics, with particular focus on free trade regimes (the WTO) and the relationship with the USA.
5. Norway's changing links with the EU, and her participation in international institutions.

Computer-based tools

None

Course structure

36 hours of lectures.

Evaluation

Your course grade will be based on the following activities and weights:
30% Class work (in the form of a mix of some/ all of the following: hand in of case write ups, projects, and homeworks; case presentations and class participation; in class midterm and quizzes). Final written 3 hour exam accounts for 70% of the grade.
Both parts of the evaluation need to be passed in order to get a grade in the course.

Specific Information regarding student evaluation will be provided in class. Please note that while attendance is not compulsory in all courses, it is the students responsibility to obtain any information provided in class that is not included on the course homepage/Blackboard or text book.

Evaluation code(s)

GRA 59141accounts for 100 % of the final grade in the course GRA 5914.

Aids at the examination

Bilingual dictionary

Makeup exam

Re-takes are only possible at the next time a course will be held. When course evaluation consists of class participation or process elements, the whole course must be re-evaluated when a student wants to retake an exam. Retake examinations entail an extra examination fee.

Honor Code

Academic honesty and trust are important to all of us as individuals, and represent values that are encouraged and promoted by the honor code system. This is a most significant university tradition. Students are responsible for familiarizing themselves with the ideals of the honor code system, to which the faculty are also deeply committed.

Any violation of the honor code will be dealt with in accordance with BI's procedures for cheating. These issues are a serious matter to everyone associated with the programs at BI and are at the heart of the honor code and academy integrity. If you have any questions about your responsibilities under the honor code, please ask.