Introduction

Objective

The course will provide the students with a basic knowledge of, and insight into, different legal systems. The course will cover the commercial aspects of the law(s) and specific legal issues applicable to international trade. The course will explain the systems of Eu Law, Common law, Roman Law and international Law, as well as standard contracts used in international trade. The students will learn how to determine jurisdiction, and to decide which country's laws will regulate contracts as well as disputes arising. Common methods of dispute resolution will be explained. The course will cover specific regulations such as CISG (Convention for the International sale and purchase of goods), INCOTERMS, Documentary credits and their use. EU and EEA legislation have a direct bearing on national and international legislation and hence international trade. The students also require an introduction to the relationship between EU and EEA legislation, national legislation and international legislation/rules.
