Introduction

Learning outcome

The course aims to give students in-depth knowledge of central aspects of service marketing that are relevant for real estate studies. The course includes the subject areas information related and consumer behaviour, sales and sales management, marketing research as well as service management. Lectures, student guidance and assignments shall as far as possible incorporate the particular characteristics of the real estate business and law.

The target of the course is to raise the knowledge of the students to a level where they are able to plan and take responsibility for their own marketing and selling effort in a legal and ethical way.

Acquired knowledge

- To comprehend what it means in practice to gain the competence that enables the student to function as a professional sales person and a sales manager.
- Get the competence that enables the student to establish and develop customer relations.
- In order to secure learning it is emphasised that the student should be prepared for class, to that effect cases will be distributed before each lecture and are supposed to be solved before the lecture in question.

Acquired skills

- The students must be made able to contact prospects and to go through a sales process.
- Be able to single handed develop a sales plan that fulfil the activity targets set by the sales manager, and make a plan for building customer relationships.

Reflection

- During the course the student must understand that the sales person is indispensable to the company, and at the same time is an active brand builder towards new and existing customers.
- Through a professionalising process the course shall establish a critical and constructive attitude to sales, and during the course develop good understanding for the ethical and legal sides of the sales process.

Prerequisites

The student must have completed the two first years of Bachelor in Real Estate or equivalent.
