Introduction

Learning outcome

The course covers the legal framework surrounding various forms of ownership used in the business community. An understanding of the legal framework is important to understand Norwegian business. The rules on joint stock companies, public joint stock companies, partnerships and apportioned liability partnerships are central. The course discusses legal issues related to setting up business, the owners' role, the running of the company, the company's equity and company restructuring. After having completed the course, the students shall have acquired a basic knowledge of corporate law, have a good understanding of the rules on joint stock companies, public joint stock companies, partnerships and apportioned liability partnerships, and have in-depth knowledge of the rules concerning a company's equity.

Prerequisites

All courses in the Masters programme will assume that students have fulfilled the admission requirements for the programme. In addition, courses in second, third and/or fourth semester can have specific prerequisites and will assume that students have followed normal study progression. For double degree and exchange students, please note that equivalent courses are accepted.

Additional informationHonor Code

Academic honesty and trust are important to all of us as individuals, and represent values that are encouraged and promoted by the honor code system. This is a most significant university tradition. Students are responsible for familiarizing themselves with the ideals of the honor code system, to which the faculty are also deeply committed.

Any violation of the honor code will be dealt with in accordance with BI's procedures for cheating. These issues are a serious matter to everyone associated with the programs at BI and are at the heart of the honor code and academic integrity. If you have any questions about your responsibilities under the honor code, please ask.
